

Mars and Venus

Love, Relating, Sensuality, Sexual Chemistry

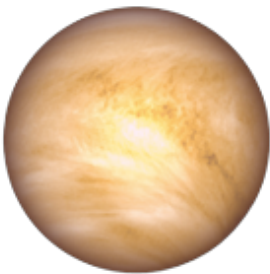

For: EXAMPLE USER Date of birth: 21st September 1977 at 8:30 AM Place of birth: San Francisco

Our attitude to love, and to sensuality and seduction, as well as the sexual chemistry between two people, are shown much more clearly by our Mars and Venus signs than by our Sun Signs.

For both sexes, the Venus sign reveals the more passive, affectionate, romantic and feminine side of the way we love. It's our style of relating to others and the way we attract them to us.

In a woman's chart, her Venus sign also describes her special brand of femininity, and how she puts herself across to people she is drawn to.

In a man's chart, his Venus sign also reveals the kind of women that he finds attractive and most often gets romantically and sexually involved with.

Venus in Leo

Fire

There is nothing mean or petty about you or your emotions. Passion, in the grand, old-fashioned style, is what you are after. In fact, the term, 'grand passion', was probably invented by someone with a Leo Venus. You will never settle for someone who does not match the regal prince, or princess, of your dreams. And your dreams are always more dramatic and flamboyant, than those of lesser mortals. Of course, finding someone who lives up to your expectations is not easy, but that does not deter you.

You are a great romantic, and when your current idol turns out to have feet of clay - which can happen fast if they restrict or bore you - you will keep on looking. Anyhow, you have lots of fun along the way and anyone you are involved with can expect to do so too, as you are as lavish with your money as you are with your affections. Grand gestures, huge bouquets and expensive dinners are your stock in trade and you will leave no stone unturned to please your loved one. But you do expect their heart-felt gratitude - and admiration - in return.. When you do find someone who really makes the grade, you are fiercely loyal. However, those who like the limelight, or who prefer to call the tune, would be foolish to apply.

Your Venus in Sextile with Your Jupiter

You are an optimist, and you love all of life's pleasures and are very creative. Maybe you have a special interest in history of art and express yourself through art, philosophy or ethics. Professionally, you may deal with art and/or nutrition. Because you enjoy decorating your home and can offer useful suggestions for alterations on the apartments of your friends, you could turn your technical talents and gift for drawing into a career as an interior decorator. This aspect also gives a warm and melodious singing voice. Your relationships are generally harmonious and peaceful, as you know how to please others and you can also show a great deal of understanding for people plagued by misfortune. Your sensitivity and refined manners are largely responsible for your popularity.

Your Venus in Conjunction with Your Saturn

You are level-headed, down to earth and balanced in your outlook on the world. Both emotionally and financially, what you build is built to last and close relationships are likely to be stable and long-lasting. You do not show your feelings lightly, and you don't go in for lavish gestures, but when you make a real commitment, it is definitely for keeps. Your tranquil disposition also makes it easy for you to fit in with others and you can create a peaceful and harmonious atmosphere around you.

Your Venus in Sextile with Your Ascendant

Venus in sextile with your ascendant gives great charm and magnetism to your personality. You are popular wherever you may go, which is what you need and crave for, as all you really want is to be accepted. Which means that you will go far to avoid conflict, even if it does not really suit your interests to stand back. You also enjoy the good things in life, you will do everything you can to make yourself comfortable and enjoy yourself as much as possible. You may well make a career for yourself in the arts.

While your Venus Sign - and any links it makes with other planets in your birth chart - show how you love, the house it falls in shows the area of your life where it manifests most strongly.

Venus in the Tenth House

The tenth house represents our public image, our career and standing in the world. It also shows how we project ourselves to others. With Venus here, you have a glamorous persona and others are drawn to you by your confidence and charm. How others see you is important to you, and you are diplomatic, practical and focused, which makes you an ideal partner. You may well get involved with someone who you work with, or share career ambitions with them.

Love and Relating - which signs do you have a natural affinity with?

Affinities between your natal Venus sign and another person's Mars sign, or vice versa, indicate that there's real sexual chemistry between you, as well as the potential for a true romantic bond.

Even when Mars is not involved, you could find that the other person has the Sun, Moon, or important planets in a sign your Venus is in tune with, which can make the attraction almost as strong!

Venus in Leo with:

Fiery, pioneering Aries: High drama and romance, with all the extras. They can match your enthusiasm and your love of life like nobody else can, but is your love really of this world?

Down to earth and loyal Taurus: A strong physical attraction. Like you, they seek pleasure and luxurious living and you appreciate their strength, their warm and their straightforward way of loving.

Quick-witted, restless Gemini: Great for going out and having fun, they know how to interest and amuse you, but they do not share your passionate and romantic nature - nor do they understand it.

Sensitive, maternal Cancer: You find them soothing, and they can be the perfect foil to your dramatic, extroverted side, as they understand the insecurities you hide.

Dramatic and romantic Leo: You know each other at a glance and admire and respect each other. This can be the most dynamic of all combinations, but there can be problems about who takes center stage.

Cool, realistic Virgo: With them by your side, you can put your grand plan into action and make things happen in the real world, as, they are happy just to help you, and they will stand by you.

Romantic and sophisticated Libra: They know how to please you and will always let you shine. This is the stuff that dreams are made of, as you both understand the meaning - and the pleasures - of romance.

Intense, passionate Scorpio: This combination is hot, exciting and explosive. You have met your match, indeed you may have problems handling the powerful emotions that can be unleashed.

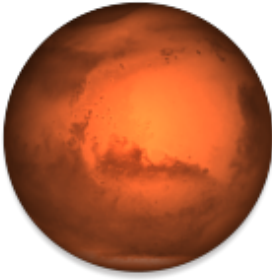

Adventurous, idealistic Sagittarius: Guaranteed adventure and exciting new horizons - they could take you to Shangri La and back in what cannot fail to be an action-packed and memorable encounter.

Reserved and loyal Capricorn: You are both strong-willed and together you can achieve great things. They are a lot more reserved than you are, but they could surprise you with their passion.

Idealistic and free-thinking Aquarius: You find their cool, detached allure an exciting challenge. They have a lot to offer - and to teach you - once you accept their need for space and time alone.

Sensitive and dreamy Pisces: You both love glamour and romance and will soon leave the mundane world behind you as you sail into the sunset. You could find them hyper-sensitive at times, however.

Your Mars Sign

Mars is the planet that rules sexuality. For both sexes, the Mars sign describes the more active, masculine side of love and sensuality, as well as how we go about pursuing what we want.

In a man's chart, the Mars sign also describes his type of masculinity and drive, as well as how he puts himself across in romantic situations.

In a woman's chart, her Mars sign also shows the kind of man that she feels drawn to and is sexually in tune with.

Mars in Cancer

Water

On the surface, masculine and fiery Mars is not at ease in feminine, home-loving Cancer, and, if you are a man, you most likely won't project a macho image. The real plus side of Mars in Cancer is the sensitivity and real compassion that you bring to your close bonds with others. Nor does your gentleness imply that you are weak. Very much the opposite, in fact, for you do not feel the need to hide behind a tough facade to prove your strength, nor do you wish to dominate the people you become involved with. You love home life and family ties are all-important to you.

For you, romance is seeing roses you have planted bloom around the door and sharing all the joys and sorrows that the day can bring with someone close. Of all the Mars signs, Cancer is the most protective of its loved ones, and you will fight against the odds to keep the people whom you care for from all harm. And, in the safe haven that you know how to create, they can relax and be themselves, letting their real feelings show.

Those with Mars in Cancer are often drawn to people with the Sun, or other planets, such as Venus, in Capricorn, Cancer's opposing sign, or to Scorpio or Pisces types.

Mars in the Ninth House

With the action planet, Mars, in the ninth house of your chart, you are always on the go and have a powerful urge to travel and to broaden your horizons. You are an adventurer, ever on the look out for new lands to conquer and fresh peaks to climb. You are also just as freedom-loving and adventurous when it comes to matters of the heart, and you can find it hard to settle in one place, or with one person. But you are as idealistic as they come, as well, and discovering the meaning of existence also comes high up on your agenda. With Mars here, you may well find your soul mate in a foreign country, or prefer to live abroad. In a woman's chart, this also tends to be the kind of personality she is naturally drawn to and finds most sexually attractive.
